Dear Sir:

Some days ago, Mr. Wayte Raymond informed us of your willingness to sell us the Tammany Medal which you recently purchased. We are particularly desirous of adding this piece to our Collection, and trust that you are still willing to part with it. We understood from Mr. Raymond that you would allow us to purchase this piece for the price you paid for it - $315.00. I have just received permission from the Council of our Society to make you this offer, and if you are now willing to sell it, I shall be glad to direct our Bank to send you our cheque for $315.00.

The Council has directed me to thank you very sincerely for your interest in our Collection, and we trust we may be able to add the Tammany medal to our Cabinet.

With appreciation of your courtesy,

Very truly yours,

Curator

Dear Mr. Wood:-

I have just received your letter of December 12th, and shall be very glad to turn over the Tammany medal to your Society. I bought it in order to prevent its going West, and also in order that I might procure a good photograph for reproduction in the forth-coming volume of my Iconography of Manhattan Island. It is outside of my own particular field of collecting.

Yours very truly,

I. N. PHELPS STOKES,

Dear Mr. Stokes:

On my return from a short absence in the South, I find the Tammany medal safely reposing in the trays of our Collection.

Many, many thanks for your kindness, generosity and public spirited attitude in allowing us to secure this important historical document at the price which you gave for it. Your action is keenly appreciated by the Council, and, at its last meeting, I was instructed to tender you the thanks of the Society as a whole.

This brings to my mind an idea - we are naturally very anxious to publish, in as adequate and scientific a manner as possible, this important medal. Would you, in one of your rare leisure moments, consider writing such an article, to be printed in our series of Notes and Monographs? You are the only person in a position to do full justice to such an interesting theme; and it would be a thousand pities if the medal were to remain virtually unknown to future students of the history of New York.

May we hope to receive a favorable reply to this suggestion?

Thanking you again for your kindness,

Very truly yours,

President

Dear Mr. Stokes:

Yesterday I mailed to you a couple of plaster casts of the relief medal of north and south America. I was not able to get the edge absolutely free from bubbles, but I think they will present no difficulty in making a copy of the piece. I am also enclosing a photograph of this and the Drake medal although you did not order it. We were photographing other things so I thought I would include these. If you care to keep this print the price will be three dollars. If not, you are at liberty to return it. Unfortunately the Drake medal we have has an imperfection in the center, as you will notice. The plaster cast will be one dollar.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
